

Assessment for Learning

with Karen Bailey

July 30, 2010 – September 14, 2010 – October 5, 2010 – November 2, 2010

Karen Bailey, national presenter and educational consultant, will be with us throughout the year to address the importance of high quality common assessments and the effects it has on student achievement. Ms. Bailey has worked extensively with educators in Georgia and many other states. Her experience with educational best practice, assessment, and data teams comes from her work as a successful classroom teacher and professional development specialist.

These highly interactive work sessions are grounded in the research shown to increase student performance and motivation through improved classroom assessment. Participants will be introduced to the researched-based approach of balancing high quality, student involved, formative assessments with building, district benchmarks, and/or Georgia summative assessments. Together we will explore the integration process between balanced assessment data and increased student performance via classroom assessments and data team collaboration.

We hope you are able to join in this exciting effort!
